Situational Simulations

No more "Trial by Fire"

There are only so many things that can be learned in a leadership workshop. Videos and textbooks can convey CONCEPTS of conflict management, de-escalation of tense situations, and "courageous conversations," but until a leader is actually in one of those situations, it is all merely theory.

Situational simulations put your people into one-on-one conversations with a trained improviser in order to let them experience some of the more challenging aspects of being a manager in a safe environment where they can receive constructive feedback from you without involving actual employees or clients in actual situations.

Members of the Moment SitSim team will spend time with you discussing some of the more challenging aspects of your team's work and developing a series of challenging conversations you feel they need to experience. They could be as simple as how to say no to a client or as difficult as termination or layoff conversations. Given the topic at hand, and insight on what type of reactions you would like your team to experience, our improv trainers will take them on a simulated journey that will help them become better leaders.

Additional Offerings

Corporate Improv Training
Harness the power of "YesAND" to bring your team together. Whether you are looking to improve your team's communication, encourage out-of-the-box thinking, or just have plain old fun, Moment's corporate workshops can be custom tailored to meet your team's needs

Corporate Improv Shows
Whether online or in person, Moment can package and entertaining, off-the-cuff improv show as the finale of any workshop. Shows can last from 30 minutes to an hour in length.

Indirect Improvisation Presentations
Any of Moment's workshop modules can be offered in a less interactive, lecture style presentation. The concepts and lessons will all be the same, without the direct interaction between participants and the facilitator to build and reinforce the skills introduced.
